Annino asked for clarification of both the scope of the RFP and the development of cost estimates. C. Iino added that funds have already been set aside for this use, and estimated costs to develop documents are in the $10 – 15,000 range, based on research provided by the Parmelee steering Committee working in conjunction with the CT Trust for Historic Preservation. Annino thought the estimate might be high and he cautioned that town should be careful of being tied to historic preservation restrictions .

Iino clarified that this concern has been discussed thoroughly by the Parmelee Farm Steering Committee. Iino further noted that all systems will be contemporary, up to code, and ADA compliant.

d. Agenda for January 9 Board of Selectmen Meeting Catherine Iino submitted agenda items to Fred Dudek who will serve as Acting First Selectman in her absence at the January 9th meeting. Dudek will finalize and post agenda.

Proposed agenda items included the continuance of the Municipal Land Use Committee (MLUC) . At the December 12th BOS meeting, Fred Dudek suggested the BOS revisit the charge of the MLUC and the board agreed not to make appointments at that time. Annino inquired about a MLUC charge. C. Iino cited the language:

The Land Use Committee will review all applications for improvements and uses of municipal properties and submit in writing to the First Selectmen a recommendation concerning the completeness of the application, the consistency of the application with the Town Plan, and the consistency of the application with the applicable plans of other town commissions and boards.

Annino noted that there was some redundancy in terms of function with other town committees and boards, such as P & Z. This was discussed and Annino suggested the language should be more specific regarding municipal development. C. Iino recommended that a representative from MLUC be invited to the January 9 meeting.

A second agenda item discussed briefly was generator assessment. Fred Dudek clarified that we will be assessing the town's needs overall as well assessing the viability of current generator equipment. C. Iino recommended that Walter Adametz attend the meeting as well.
